The Undertaker -- A Thought for November

"The midnight hour, the darkest hour that only human grief may know, Sends forth its hurried summons –asks me to come – I go!
I know not where the blow may fall, I only know that I must go,
in answer to the call, Perhaps a friend, perhaps unknown,
It's faith that turns the wheel - the tangled skin of human life,
Winds slowly on a reel, and I? I'm the undertaker.
"Coldblooded" you'll hear them say,
"Trained to the shock and chill of death,
With a heart that's cold and grey".
Trained – that's what they call it,
How little they know the rest
I'm human, and know the sorrow
That throbs in an aching breast."
